IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

8. On or about October 22, 2009, Plaintiff's mother began receiving messages from agents of the Defendant APM, who are supervised by Landis, stating that her daughter owed an outstanding debt from a car loan in an amount exceeding $10,000.00.

9. On that same day the Plaintiff called the phone number left by the APM agents, however, the call was answered as "Law Office"; during the call Plaintiff asked that Defendants not call her mother's home again. The agent for the Defendants APM and Landis, who answered the call, did not respond in any way just quickly hung-up on the Plaintiff.

10. On or about October 23, 2009, the Plaintiff's mother received another phone call from Defendant APM's agents asking the whereabouts of the Plaintiff and informing Plaintiff's mother of her outstanding debt.

11. On or about October 26, 2009, the Plaintiff called the same number and again asked them to stop calling her mother's home. An agent for the Defendants told Plaintiff that this was the number that she had given them to call. Plaintiff explained that she would not have done that since she had not lived in that location in over twenty (20) years.

12. During that same phone call the Defendants' agent then demanded that the Plaintiff get out her check book because she owed a lot of money and they wanted it that day.

13. On that same call the Defendants' agent told the Plaintiff that if she failed to set up some kind of payment arrangement that day that she would be facing garnishment.

14. Plaintiff asked Defendants' agent how they would be able to garnish her wages since Texas does not have garnishment. The agent responded that since their firm was located in Pennsylvania, they would go by Pennsylvania law.

15. Plaintiff was told that if she did not make a payment that day they would be filing suit against her.

16. Defendants' agent threatened the Plaintiff with sending someone to arrest her if she did not make payment arrangements.

17. Additionally on this call, the Plaintiff continuously asked the Defendants' agent for her name. The Defendants' agent refused to give her name stating that it didn't matter what her name was because she just needed to worry about getting her bills paid.

18. Defendants' agent told the Plaintiff that she had better just pay up because she was "not the one to try and argue with, because she would lose".

19. On or about November 7, 2009, Defendants' agent placed yet another call to the Plaintiff's mother's home informing her again of the Plaintiff's debt.

20. On or about November 10, 2009, Plaintiff's mother received an automated call from the Defendants. The call said to press #2 if you are not "Holly Menges", however after several attempts at choosing option #2, the message in regards to the debt continued to play.

21. Plaintiff has not received anything in writing from the Defendants' up to the filing of this complaint.

22. Plaintiff's mother continues to receive calls on a daily basis from the Defendants'. Plaintiff's mother no longer answers any of these calls.

23. The Defendants' acted in a false, deceptive, misleading and unfair manner when they engaged in conduct the natural consequence of which is to harass, oppress or abuse such person in connection with the collection of a debt.

24. The Defendants knew or should have known that their actions violated the FDCPA. Additionally, Defendants' could have taken the steps necessary to bring their and their agent's actions within compliance of the FDCPA, but neglected to do so and failed to adequately review those actions to insure compliance with the law.

25. At all times pertinent hereto, Defendants were acting by and through agents, servants and/or employees, who were acting within the scope and course of their employment and under the direct supervision and control of Defendants herein.

26. At all times pertinent hereto, the conduct of the agents, servants and/or employees, was done at the direction of Defendant Landis an attorney and APM the employer in fact of the agents.

27. As a result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff has sustained actual damages, including, but not limited to, injury to Plaintiff's reputation, invasion of privacy, damage to Plaintiff's credit, out-of-pocket expenses, physical, emotional and mental pain and anguish and pecuniary loss and she will continue to suffer same for an indefinite time in the future, all to his great detriment and loss.
